Jenifer McKenzie

Musician and Spiritual Teacher

Jenifer McKenzie has enjoyed many years of helping people to experience union with Higher Consciousness through the use of sound. She is a classically trained musician with two degrees in music performance and is currently a member of the Dallas Opera Orchestra.

As a professional musician and teacher, Jenifer began to notice many years ago the powerful effects music has on listeners. Thus began her dedicated study of sound and vibration and their many healing effects on people and their environment. As a spiritual teacher, she assists people in opening up their consciousness to experience a deeper connection to the Divine Within.

Ms. McKenzie has taught many tuning fork workshops and has given many lectures and seminars on sound healing. She has dedicated much time and energy to updating and refining this powerful modality to keep it current with the changing vibrations of our physical bodies and our Planet Earth.
